Ontario Universities:

The Ontario Universities' Application Centre (OUAC) processes undergraduate and professional applications for admissions to the province's universities. The OUAC will forward applications to all requested universities and/or programs regardless of the qualifications of the applicant. The OUAC does not make any admission decisions.

Undergraduate Applications (101 Applications on OUAC)

Undergraduate study is the first level of academic work available at a university and leads to a bachelor's degree. Normally (but not always), undergraduate applicants do not already hold a university degree. Admission to undergraduate study following high school requires completion of secondary school qualifications with six grade 12 credits at the "U" (University) or "M" (Mixed) level. English 4U is always a requirement. Consult each individual program for specific requirements.
