

At the Caribbean International Academy, we welcome you to our boutique Residence which provides our students with a home in the Caribbean. Living in the school Residence offers students a unique opportunity to grow, fully experience all the school has to offer and to form a core group of leaders within the school. We serve students who seek a challenging general education in the Ontario System balanced by a rich co-curricular experience in a caring environment. This section of the Handbook describes the boarding program and services and provides a survey of the expectations and rules which promote a harmonious and productive living environment at our Residence.

SECURITY HEALTH AND SAFETY

The Residence is equipped with exterior door locks and security cameras are on every entrance door. Within the Residences, for safety reasons and to promote and enhance a community environment, there is an “open door” policy for all bedrooms and common areas. Students may lock the doors of their rooms when there is no-one inside or after lights out, and each student has a key to a personal closet where valuable items should be kept. Boys and girls floors are separated by a door which will be locked at night.

Keys: The key to the personal closet is the responsibility of the student. There will be a charge to the student’s account if keys are not returned at the end of the school year.

Valuables: Please do not bring valuables to the school. Our insurance will not cover loss or damage to your personal belongings, therefore any items you bring are at your own risk and should be kept locked in your closet.

Access to School Buildings: - students who require access to School Buildings outside of school hours must obtain permission from the Residence Director. The library may be used after hours in special circumstances.

Room Inspection and Searches:

CIA must ensure the safety of all of its students and reserves the right to carry out regular inspections of the Residence rooms.

Visitors:

Residential students who wish to invite guests, must at all times respect the safety and rights of other residential students.

1. Parents are encouraged to visit their child while s/he is living in the Residence. Family members must notify and obtain permission from the Director of Residence who will accompany them to their child’s room to help ensure that the safety and rights of other residential students are met. No visits will take place in the students rooms after 6 pm.

2. The boys and girls' floors must at all times be kept single gendered. As a result, no guests of opposite gender are permitted beyond the Common Room of the Residence.
2. Day students may not enter the Residence unless they are accompanied by a residential student. Visitors may be in student rooms with the door open. Groups of more than three students should meet in the Common Room.
3. Under no circumstances are strangers allowed to gain entry to the Residence. Their presence in the boarding vicinity should be reported immediately to any teacher, the Director or Residence or the Security Guard.

Leave Policy: Students must obtain permission from the Residence Director prior to leaving school grounds for any reason and at all times must travel in groups of not less than three people. Communication with the Director is critical to building the trust necessary for off campus activities. Students must provide their destination, return time and contact information prior to leaving the school. Students must obtain written permission from both families' parents/guardians if they wish to stay overnight at a friend's home. Transportation must be provided by the families.

Disciplinary Action: Students in the Residence are subject to the same disciplinary rules as all students at CIA. However, they are reminded of their duty to all members of the Residence community. In particular, theft, violence, bullying and harassment have no place in the boarding community and are very serious disciplinary matters. A bond of trust must be formed in the boarding community; if the trust is broken in one of the aforementioned ways, a student can expect disciplinary consequences consistent to the severity of the offence. These offences could lead to consequences ranging up to and including expulsion from the School and or Residence.

Alcohol and Drugs: Residential students are especially reminded that the possession, use, being under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs, or making alcohol or drugs available to others will result in serious disciplinary consequences, ranging from Residence suspension to school expulsion. Additionally, students who are under the influence of alcohol in the Residence are in breach of School policy and are liable for Residence suspension.

Vehicles:

Because the school is unable to assume related liabilities, residential students may not have cars or any other motorized vehicles at school, nor may they have regular use of a vehicle parked off the school grounds.
